

Annual Conference Action on District Task Force Recommendation

Scott Brewer, Executive Director, and Lisa Maupin, Conference Lay Leader

“Therefore everyone who hears these words of mine and puts them into practice is like a wise man who built his house on the rock. 25 The rain came down, the streams rose, and the winds blew and beat against that house; yet it did not fall, because it had its foundation on the rock.”

— Matthew 7:24,25

The Great Plains Conference was established in 2014, joining together the Nebraska, Kansas East, and Kansas West Annual Conferences of the United Methodist Church. All three conferences brought strong foundations of ministry with the hope that, by joining together, the United Methodist witness throughout Kansas and Nebraska could grow even stronger. Ten years later, and after the many challenges and opportunities we have faced together, the time has arrived to renovate some of our foundations as we continue striving on towards perfection.

Below, you will find recommendations from the Districting Task Force. This group, comprised of a broad range of ages, backgrounds, geographies, and opinions has met over the intervening months to develop a holistic proposal that not only considers the number and boundaries of our districts, but what are the roles our districts play in serving our mission field and how is that work best structured and resourced.

As the Great Plains celebrates its first ten years of ministry together, we can and should celebrate what we have achieved together as a conference. While we have faced many changes and difficult dilemmas, our conference is now recognized as a leader by many in the denomination: We can and should be proud of our healthy and supportive culture, robust financial strength, and powerful sense of common purpose and mission. Our hope and prayer is these proposals will further strengthen our work together as we continue to make disciples of Jesus Christ for the transformation of the world.

Number and boundaries of districts

The task force was asked to examine the current district alignment and make recommendations about how many districts and district superintendents are needed to maximize missional effectiveness. When the Great Plains Conference was established in 2014, over 1,000 churches in seventeen districts – each with its own district superintendent. While we still maintain the same number of districts today, disaffiliations and closures have reduced the number of churches to 715, and appointive changes beginning in 2017 have reduced the number of district superintendents to the current ten.

We recommend there be ten districts and ten district superintendents in the Great Plains Annual Conference effective July 1, 2024. The Task Force believes the current number of District Superintendents is appropriate for the demands of our mission field, however the current boundaries of those districts are problematic. The current seventeen districts and their boundaries have led to an unequal distribution of supervisory responsibilities among the Appointive Cabinet. Moreover, assigning multiple district superintendents to cover one district makes it very difficult for that region to develop a cohesive district mission strategy.

We recommend the Great Plains Annual Conference session request that the Cabinet uses the alignments contained in this report when determining district boundaries. While the actual boundaries of the districts are the Disciplinary responsibility of the Bishop and Cabinet, we believe it is appropriate for our task force and the annual conference at large to offer up recommendations for their consideration. The recommended boundaries (a detailed map and full listing of churches are found in the Appendix of this report) were developed after extensive data gathering and conversations with district superintendent and other leaders. Our primary goals for making recommendations included:

1. Redrawing lines so that each district has a comparable number of churches and charges.
2. Analyzing the historical and cultural significance of churches in trying to draw district boundaries.
3. Maximize missional effectiveness in grouping churches into districts.

To guide us in the work, we looked closely at existing transportation networks, prevailing patterns of travel and economic activity between communities, and the boundaries of public school districts. While several task force members expressed a desire to see districts that would cross the border between Nebraska and Kansas, ultimately the challenges such districts would have created around resourcing local churches' continued compliance with the differing laws and regulations of each state – particularly on matters of labor and taxation – simply were too numerous and difficult to surmount.

District roles and functions

In our research we noted there is a great deal of diversity in how districts function throughout the annual conference. This diversity is appropriate for a conference that is as large and diverse as ours, and we believe that it is a significant source of strength and resilience that will continue to serve us well. Nevertheless, there are areas of collaborative mission and ministry that function at a remarkably high level in one district but virtually nonexistent in another. We believe all our districts will benefit from clearly established expectations on their roles and functions so that we can all hold one another accountable for the work that we are called to do in our respective mission fields. We therefore recommend that the primary roles of each district should be to Strategize, Connect, and Empower:

Strategize: Determine the overarching vision and missional priorities of the district.

Connect: Enhance communication and connectionalism among the local churches to maximize their gifts and effectiveness, while identifying and training leaders that will connect the district.

Empower: Equip clergy and laity within the district by securing high quality ministry resources available to all churches in the district and implement yearly evaluations of district leadership and ministries.

District structure

In order to carry out the districts work to strategize connect and empower, and based upon the mandates outlined in the 2016 Book of Discipline of the United Methodist Church, we propose a decision-making authority in the hands of the clergy and lay members meeting in a district-wide conference. This structure utilizes a district conference of the lay and clergy members to annual conference from each of the churches in the district. This conference will meet at least once a year and functions like the role the annual conference session plays in approving annual budgets, instituting conference mission shares, and changing structures at the conference level.

To direct the work of the district between sessions of the district conference, District Connecting Councils will serve as each district's Mission Strategy Team, Board of Church Location and Building, Committee on District Superintendency, and Board of Laity, like how a "single board model" structure functions in many churches.

The District Committees on Ordained Ministry and Lay Servant Ministry will continue to function separately from the District Connecting Council and each other and will continue their essential work as outlined in the Book of Discipline.

We recommend that the following structures be established and function in every district:

1. The District Conference (§1659) comprised by the clergy and lay members to annual conference from each district shall meet at least once a year. The District Conference is the only district body that may approve the district ministry budget, institute a district-wide mission share, or revise the structure of the district.

2. The District Connecting Council will consist of an equal number of clergy and lay members including the District Superintendent (who serves as chairperson) and the District Lay Leader, with its remaining members elected by the District Conference. The Council shall operate as a single board and among its duties conduct the functions of the following district bodies:
  - i) District Mission Strategy Team
  - ii) District Board of Church Location and Building (¶2519-2522)
  - iii) Committee on District Superintendency (¶669)
  - iv) District Board of Laity (¶667)
- 3 The District Committee on Ordained Ministry (¶666)
- 4 The District Committee on Lay Servant Ministry (¶668)

District leadership and administration

We recommend that each district shall be staffed by one(1) District Superintendent and one(1) District Administrative Assistant. Full implementation of this provision shall take effect no later than June 30, 2025. The delayed implementation of this provision allows conference management and staff time to adjust work responsibilities to best suit the emerging needs of our new districts.

We also recommend that the District Superintendent shall determine the location and on-site functions of the district offices, with the consent of the Bishop and in consultation with the Treasurer & Director of Administrative Services.

In our work, members of our task force were intrigued at different ways to restructure the work of the superintendency. Specifically, could the Great Plains allow multiple persons to serve in two or more districts, with the many responsibilities of the superintendency split up and assigned to the person best suited to that work. For instance, two superintendents might want to share the full territory of two districts, with one person focusing on administrative responsibilities while the other concentrates on mission strategy and local church development. We believe this concept may be worth exploring as an experiment in a region, provided that such a change is done only with broad support from the people and churches of the districts affected. Therefore, we recommend that, upon request of the superintendents and endorsement by the district conferences, the Bishop consider the appointment of multiple persons to jointly serve as superintendents of a combined district.

Funding district ministries

When the Great Plains Conference was established in 2014, the districts of the former Nebraska conference continued their district Mission Shares; Kansas districts were allowed the option of instituting their own Mission Shares, but none so far have chosen to do so. We believe it is appropriate that each district have the option of apportioning monies above and beyond the conference mission shares, provided that is the will of the members of its District Conference. Unfortunately, present practice has created disparities in how new ministries are funded and organized, depending upon the state where they emerged: Nebraska districts can quickly allocate funds to support these new opportunities or challenges while Kansas districts must request conference funds to do the same.

We believe there is value in allocating significant funds directly to the districts for them to use in their ongoing and emerging ministries. We propose that the conference allocate a set portion (5%) of the existing Great Plains Conference Mission Shares received for district-directed missions and ministries. Under the proposal, all districts will have flexibility to fund new opportunities without any local church being asked to contribute more to Mission Shares than they are apportioned under our conference current formula. This 5% level is roughly equal to the amount currently apportioned to churches in the Elkhorn Valley, Gateway, Great West, and Prairie Rivers Districts, potentially eliminating the need for district mission shares for successor districts in those areas. And the proposal still allows for an additional District Mission Share, meaning that historic mission relationships and ministry commitments (such as those found in the current Missouri and Blue River Districts) can continue well into the future, provided the District Conferences have approved them.

We therefore propose that at the end of every month, 5% of the conference Mission Shares remitted by the churches for their Great Plains Mission Shares shall be allocated for use by the districts in their mission and ministries. This allocation shall be reflected in the annual budget of the conference.

Districts Conferences shall have the authority to apportion additional funds from their location churches as a District Mission Share, provided the additional amounts are calculated upon the same methodology utilized for Conference Mission Shares.

Districts may hold a portion of these funds in reserve for use in future years, however, any funds held in a district reserve that exceed 300% of the total amount allocated for its ministries in the current calendar year, they may be transferred to the annual conference reserve fund at the sole determination of the Great Plains Conference Council on Finance and Administration.

These recommendations shall take effect January 1, 2025.

Implementation Plan

We recommend the following steps and timing for implementing these recommendations to better provide for a smooth and orderly transition:

1. The proposed change in the number of districts shall formally take effect July 1, 2024. The Bishop's appointments of the superintendents to their district shall also take effect on this date.
2. The Cabinet shall approve a plan for district boundaries and supervision as soon after the close of this 2024 annual conference session as possible.
3. The District Committees on Ordained Ministry and District
